

CHINESE SLAYERS IN POLICE GRASP

the high spirits of high police officials since yesterday afternoon.

Wan is held incommunicado.

Zing Sung Wan, the young Chinese guest at the mission who was brought back from New York last Saturday night, and who is known to have gone under the various aliases of Tsau Wan and Zing Sung Wen is held incommunicado by Major Pullman. The taking of this man from New York, from which State he could have fought extradition, and greatly embarrassed the Washington police in their efforts to clear up the triple crime the securing of him in some place said to be known to only three of the men "highest up" in the department; the procedure used in questioning the man, and obtaining from him not only statements which incriminate himself but admissions which involve another, is one of the most extraordinary "stunts" ever "pulled off" by a police department.

W. S. Van, the brother of Wan, who was brought back Monday night, has been secreted in the same unusual fashion. Both men returned to Washington, believing others were under suspicion and that they were wanted only to assist the police in their investigations.

Questioned At Midnight.

The examinations of both Wan and his brother have been midnight inquiries and have been conducted almost entirely by Major Pullman himself, who, while he does not believe in "third degree" methods, is known to have a peculiar faculty of extracting information both from suspects and witnesses.

Every night, beginning Saturday night, Major Pullman has disappeared. From the moment he leaves the District building, only one other man knows where he is, or what he is doing. The next few hours in the dead of night have been difficult ones for the young Chinese, who are being questioned.

GOVT. TO TAKE HAND IN BRITISH STRIKE

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The ministry of labor will intervene in the strikes which are spreading throughout Great Britain and Ireland if union officials fail to gain control of the situation.

The government regards the labor situation as a fight between regular labor union leaders and rebels. If the regular leaders are unable to gain control, the government will then intervene for the protection of society.

DEATH SQUAD TO UNDERGO 'FLU' TEST

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Eminent medical specialists today began an attempt to conquer Spanish influenza, the disease that killed thousands of persons in this country alone in the past year.

A "Death Squad" of fifty young naval men from the detention barracks at Deer Island, who volunteered in the interests of humanity to submit themselves to experiment and treatment, went to the influenza colony at Gallup's Island.

Prof. M. J. Rosenau, Harvard medical school, is in charge of the study, which is being conducted under the joint direction of the Federal Public Health Service, the Navy Department, and the State board of health. Dr. Joseph Goldberger, of the navy, came on from Washington with Dr. C. M. McCoy, director of the National Hygienic Laboratory.
